Katherine's WINTER

Katherine Heigl's wedding was intimate, beautiful and down-to-earth

Making her way through the lobby of the Stein Eriksen Lodge in Park City, Utah, Katherine Heigl tried to be discreet by covering her stunning Oscar de la Renta wedding gown — which featured an elegant off-the-shoulder bodice — with a black coat. But she couldn't hide her enormous smile as she and her bridesmaids, clad in cranberry-red gowns, entered the luxurious space to exchange vows with musician Josh Kelley. "Katherine looked amazing," says an onlooker at the December 23 ceremony. "She was the most gorgeous bride I have ever set eyes on." The ceremony, held in a giant white tent with picture windows, showcased the winter beauty of snowy Utah. Lighted with hundreds of candles, it resembled a scene from a romantic movie.

Yet the wedding was far from showy. With a guest list of just 80 close friends and family members — the Grey's Anatomy star's sister, Meg, served as maid of honor — the 30-minute ceremony, officiated by Unitarian minister Tom Goldsmith, was personal, with vows written by the couple and original music composed by Josh, 27. Afterward, guests dined and danced to a soul band. "Katherine's face lit up whenever she saw Josh," says a witness. "She was beaming with joy."

Katherine and Josh, who spent 18 months planning their dream wedding, jetted off to Cabo San Lucas, Mexico, for their honeymoon.

WONDERLAND

wedding

Katherine and Josh exchanged vows in this white-draped tent.

The Silver Room, where the reception was held, was decorated with white Christmas trees.

Escorted by a cadre of burly bodyguards, Katherine, 29, was a fashionable 10 minutes late to her wedding ceremony.

The rehearsal dinner was at 350 Main bistro. "Josh gave her a passionate kiss," a witness tells In Touch.

The wedding details...

THE GUESTS

Katherine's Grey's Anatomy co-stars Sandra Oh and Kate Walsh attended while T.R. Knight was a groomsman.

THE FOOD

They served roast beef, chicken and mashed potatoes and gave out baskets of Christmas cookies.

THE MUSIC

At the rehearsal dinner, Josh serenaded Katherine with "The Joker" by the Steve Miller Band.

THE DECOR

After the nuptials, which were held amid white flowers, guests followed a path bedecked in candles.

THE DRESS

Her custom-made, ivory silk gown had a dramatic, cascading ruffle train.

JESSICA LOSES EVEN MORE WEIGHT

THEN

While dating John Mayer, Jessica showed off a more voluptuous figure in April.

NOW

She was 112 pounds again by November when she started seeing Tony.

new body

There's nothing like a hot romance to inspire a slimdown. Jessica Simpson tells In Touch exclusively how she's keeping that sexy shape

Since they began dating in November, Jessica Simpson has fallen hard for Dallas Cowboys quarterback Tony Romo, and she's looking as amazing as she feels. The 5'3" Jessica is down to an estimated slim and sexy 112 pounds. "I am in a really special place in my life. I feel inspired," Jessica, 27, reveals to In Touch in an exclusive interview.

Even recording her next album in Nashville hasn't thrown her diet off-track. "It's all about moderation. I drink lots of water and watch my portions," Jessica tells In Touch. She eats about 1,800 calories a day, including lots of veggies, lean protein and whole grains. "She likes Fuze Slenderize drinks, which help boost her metabolism," adds her Beverly Hills-based trainer and friend, Mike

Alexander (madfit.com). "I have a set time to write music every day, so I can get a workout in every morning," Jessica says. Another trick: "I lay my workout clothes out the night before so I feel guilty if I don't put them on. If I am dressed for it, there is no excuse not to do it. I make sure to walk/jog for at least 30 minutes a day. Staying in shape keeps me feeling healthy, energized and, most importantly, happy!"

Is she inspired by her pro-athlete beau?

"Dating a jock keeps me in shape," Jessica confided to a pal about her romance with Cowboys quarterback Tony Romo, 27, and she even rented a house in Dallas to be closer to him over the holidays. But wanting to support him caused a controversy when she was spotted cheering from a luxury box during Tony's worst game ever in a loss to the Philadelphia Eagles on December 16. Tony brushed off accusations that Jessica was a distraction, saying: "It hurts me when it hurts people that are close to me... But that's part of being in the public eye." And the day after Christmas, he supported Jess by bringing her and sister Ashlee along for his regular weekly radio gig.

◀▶ The Dallas Cowboys are famous for their sexy cheerleaders, but Jessica shouldn't stress. "Tony loves her body," reveals an insider.

WHAT SHE EATS

▶ SHE STARTS HER DAY SMART
"I love to eat grapefruit in the morning," Jessica tells In Touch.

▲ SASHIMI FOR DINNER
"I recently started eating sushi," says Jessica. "It's become my favorite."

▼ CHEAT DAY: MEXICAN
"It's my choice meal on a 'cheat day,'" Jessica admits. "There is nothing like some good queso (cheese dip)!"

◀ AS A TREAT: RED-VELVET CAKE
To save 100 calories a slice, replace butter with trans-fat-free spread, use liquid eggs instead of whole eggs and cut a fifth of the sugar. Skip buttercream frosting and sift powdered sugar on top.

How Lauren eats out without blowing her diet

Just like any 21-year-old, Lauren Conrad wants to go for dinner with friends without worrying about piling on the pounds. The Hills star reveals the calorie-cutting tricks that let her keep her social life and her slim figure. "The hardest thing for me is to not eat pasta," 5'5" Lauren tells In Touch. She controls her carb cravings by asking waiters not to bring the bread basket. "If it's not in front of me, I won't eat it." Whenever she can, she steers clear of fattening Italian restaurants, so she and pal Audrina Patridge go for sushi at places like Geisha House and Koi, and get ready-made meals from Whole Foods rather than fatty take-out. If she does eat pizza, she opts for thin crust with less cheese (cutting about 450 calories and 48 grams of carbs).

▶▶ Exercising with Audrina helps Lauren keep her 120-pound bikini body. "It's easier to work out with a friend when we're jogging."

Carrie keeps a food diary

Carrie Underwood, American Idol's best-selling star ever, has a sizzling new figure to flaunt when she kicks off her U.S. tour with Keith Urban on January 31. Worried about her weight after she won Idol in May 2005, the Grammy winner devised a simple dieting trick. "I write down everything I eat," says Carrie, 5'3", now an estimated 115 pounds. "I started doing it last year and I've gotten more healthy and lost weight. I feel that I do things the healthy way." A food journal helps you understand your eating patterns and change bad habits, explains Jackie Keller of meal delivery service NutriFit. One of Carrie's calorie-cutting changes: eating sugar-free frozen yogurt instead of cookies.

Naomi cleaned up her diet

Naomi Watts embraced her weight gain when she was pregnant. But after her son, Alexander, was born in July, she quickly got down to the business of losing an estimated 50 pregnancy pounds in time to start filming her new movie, The International, less than three months later. Her secret: "eating clean," one of Hollywood's healthiest habits. Naomi, 39, shops at a local farmers' market and chooses organic vegetables, fruit and chicken. By avoiding processed foods, stars like Naomi who eat clean get more fiber and nutrients without empty calories. "Getting slim was very important to her, and she did so in record time," reveals a friend. "She didn't love carrying that extra weight, so she stuck to her diet."

Ricki gets healthy delivery

After losing more than 100 pounds, Ricki Lake was still 25 pounds above her goal weight, and she was determined to get the body of her dreams. "I was so committed — I just wanted people to notice me," says Ricki, 39. Her resolve paid off! Now 123 pounds, she has caught the eye of John Mayer, who's sent her flirtatious text messages. There's no magic to losing weight, says Ricki, who eats delivered meals of a total of 1,200 calories a day. "It's all about the right balance of foods, and eating every three to four hours," Cat Brassen-Jacobs of diet delivery service Fresh Dining says. Adopt Ricki's strategy by making a meal plan for every day of the week. It will help you make smarter choices, says meal delivery service NutriFit's Jackie Keller.

BLOATING IRRITABILITY FATIGUE ACNE

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION ABOUT YAZ:

What are the risks involved with taking any oral contraceptive (OC)? OCs can be associated with increased risks of several serious side effects. OCs do not protect against HIV infection or other STDs. Women, especially those 35 and over, are strongly advised not to smoke because it increases the risk of serious cardiovascular side effects including blood clots, stroke, and heart attack.

READY FOR BIRTH CONTROL THAT GOES BEYOND?

YAZ,[®] like all birth control pills, is 99% effective and can give you shorter, lighter periods. But YAZ goes beyond the rest. It's the first and only contraceptive proven to treat emotional and physical premenstrual symptoms severe enough to impact your life, a condition doctors call PMDD. Symptoms could include:

- Irritability
- Moodiness
- Feeling anxious
- Bloating
- Increased appetite
- Fatigue
- Headaches
- Muscle aches

YAZ can also help keep your skin clear. In recent studies, 9 out of 10 women saw improvement in their moderate acne.

YAZ is for women who choose the Pill for contraception. It should be taken as directed, and is available by prescription only.

Who shouldn't take YAZ?

YAZ contains a different kind of hormone that may increase potassium. Therefore, you should not take YAZ if you have kidney, liver, or adrenal disease because this could cause serious heart and health problems. Tell your doctor if you are on daily long-term treatment for a chronic condition such as cardiovascular disease or chronic inflammatory disease. Women who take certain drugs (see below) should have their potassium levels checked in the first month of taking YAZ.

You are encouraged to report serious side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch, or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

You don't have to take it anymore! Talk to your healthcare professional to find out if YAZ is right for you.

What cardiovascular or chronic inflammatory drugs may increase potassium? NSAIDs—ibuprofen (Motrin[®], Advil[®]), naproxen (Naprosyn[®], Aleve[®], and others) when taken long-term and daily for arthritis or other diseases or conditions, Potassium-sparing diuretics (spironolactone and others), Potassium supplementation, ACE inhibitors (Capoten[®], Vasotec[®], Zestril[®], and others), Angiotensin-II receptor antagonists (Cozaar[®], Diovan[®], Avapro[®], and others), Heparin, and Aldosterone antagonists. See important patient information on reverse side.

YAZ® (drospirenone and ethinyl estradiol) Tablets containing the following:
24 light pink – “active” tablets
4 white – “inert” tablets

This product (like all oral contraceptive) is intended to prevent pregnancy. It does not protect against HIV infection (AIDS) and other sexually transmitted diseases.

YAZ® is different from other birth control pills because it contains the progestin drospirenone. Drospirenone may increase potassium. Therefore, you should not take YAZ if you have kidney, liver or adrenal disease because this could cause serious heart and health problems. Other drugs may also increase potassium. If you are currently on daily, long-term treatment for a chronic condition with any of the medications below, you should consult your healthcare provider about whether YAZ is right for you, and during the first month that you take YAZ, you should have a blood test to check your potassium level.

- NSAIDs (ibuprofen [Motrin, Advil], naprosyn [Aleve and others] when taken long-term and daily for treatment of arthritis or other problems)
- Potassium-sparing diuretics (spironolactone and others)
- Potassium supplementation
- ACE inhibitors (Capoten, Vasotec, Zestril and others)
- Angiotensin-II receptor antagonists (Cozaar, Diovan, Avapro and others)
- Heparin
- Aldosterone antagonists

INDICATIONS

1. YAZ is indicated for the prevention of pregnancy in women who elect to use an oral contraceptive.
 2. YAZ is also indicated for the treatment of symptoms of premenstrual dysphoric disorder (PMDD) in women who choose to use an oral contraceptive as their method of contraception. The effectiveness of YAZ for PMDD when used for more than three menstrual cycles has not been evaluated.
 3. YAZ is indicated for the treatment of moderate acne vulgaris in women at least 14 years of age, who have no known contraindications to oral contraceptive therapy and have achieved menarche. YAZ should be used for the treatment of acne only if the patient desires an oral contraceptive for birth control.
- YAZ is an oral contraceptive, also known as a “birth control pill” or “the Pill.” Oral contraceptives are taken to prevent pregnancy, and, when taken correctly without missing any pills, have a failure rate of approximately 1% per year (1 pregnancy per 100 women per year of use). The typical failure rate in pill users is approximately 5% per year (5 pregnancies per 100 women per year of use) when women who miss pills are included. Forgetting to take pills considerably increases the chances of pregnancy.

YAZ may also be taken to treat premenstrual dysphoric disorder (PMDD) if you choose to use the Pill for birth control. Unless you have already decided to use the Pill for birth control, you should not start YAZ to treat your PMDD because there are other medical therapies for PMDD that do not have the same risks as the Pill. PMDD is a mood disorder related to the menstrual cycle. PMDD significantly interferes with work or school, or with usual social activities and relationships with others. Symptoms include markedly depressed mood, anxiety or tension, mood swings, and persistent anger or irritability. Other features include decreased interest in usual activities, difficulty concentrating, lack of energy, change in appetite or sleep, and feeling out of control. Physical symptoms associated with PMDD may include breast tenderness, headache, joint and muscle pain, bloating and weight gain. These symptoms occur regularly before menstruation starts and go away within a few days following the start of the period. Diagnosis of PMDD should be made by healthcare providers.

- You should only use YAZ for treatment of PMDD if you:
- Have already decided to use oral contraceptives for birth control, and
 - Have been diagnosed with PMDD by your healthcare provider.

YAZ has not been shown to be effective for the treatment of premenstrual syndrome (PMS), a less serious cluster of symptoms occurring before menstruation. If you or your healthcare provider believes you have PMS, you should take YAZ if you want to prevent pregnancy, and not for the treatment of PMS.

YAZ may also be taken to treat moderate acne in women who are able to and wish to use the pill for birth control.

Any woman who needs contraception (birth control) and chooses to use an oral contraceptive should understand the benefits and risks of using the Pill. This leaflet will give you much of the information you will need to help you decide if you will give you the Pill for contraception and will also help you determine if you are at risk of developing any of the serious side effects of the Pill. It will tell you how to use the Pill properly so that it will be as effective as possible. However, this leaflet is not a replacement for a careful discussion between you and your healthcare professional. You should discuss the information provided in this leaflet with him or her, both when you first start taking the Pill and during your revisits. You should also follow your healthcare professional’s advice with regard to regular check-up while you are on the Pill.

For the majority of women, oral contraceptives can be taken safely. But there are some women who are at high risk of developing certain serious diseases that can be life-threatening or may cause temporary or permanent disability or death. The risks associated with taking oral contraceptives increase significantly if you:

- smoke
- have high blood pressure, diabetes, high cholesterol, or are obese
- have or have had clotting disorders, heart attack, stroke, angina pectoris (severe chest pains), cancer of the breast or sex organs, jaundice, or malignant or benign liver tumors.

Should you neglect the pill if you suspect you are pregnant or have unexplained vaginal bleeding.

Although cardiovascular disease risks may be increased with oral contraceptive use after age 40 in healthy, non-smoking women (even with the newer low-dose formulations), there are also greater potential health risks associated with pregnancy in older women.

Cigarette smoking increases the risk of serious adverse effects on the heart and blood vessels from oral contraceptive use. This risk increases with age and with heavy smoking (15 or more cigarettes per day) and is quite marked in women over 35 years of age. Women who use oral contraceptives should not smoke.

Most side effects of the pill are not serious. The most common such effects are nausea, vomiting, bleeding between menstrual periods, weight gain, breast tenderness, and difficulty wearing contact lenses. These side effects, especially nausea and vomiting may subside within the first three months of use.

The serious side effects of the pill occur very infrequently, especially if you are in good health and are young. However, you should know that the following medical conditions have been associated with or made worse by the pill:

1. Blood clots in the legs (thrombophlebitis), lungs (pulmonary embolism), blockage or rupture of blood vessels in the brain (stroke), blockage of blood vessels in the heart (heart attack and angina pectoris) or other organs of the body. As mentioned above, smoking increases the risk of heart attacks and strokes and subsequent serious medical consequences. Women with migraine headaches also may be at increased risk of stroke when taking the pill.
2. Liver tumors, which may rupture and cause severe bleeding. A possible but not definite association has been found with the pill and liver cancer. However, liver cancers are extremely rare. The chance of developing liver cancer from using the pill is thus even rarer.
3. High blood pressure, although blood pressure usually returns to normal when the pill is stopped.
4. Cancer of the breast. Various studies give conflicting reports on the relationship between breast cancer and oral contraceptive use. Oral contraceptive use may slightly increase your chance of having breast cancer diagnosed, particularly after using hormonal contraceptives at a younger age. After you stop using hormonal contraceptives, the chances of getting breast cancer begin to go back down. You should have regular breast examinations by a healthcare provider and examine your own breasts monthly. Tell your healthcare provider if you have a family history of breast cancer or if you have had breast nodules or an abnormal mammogram. Women who currently have or have had breast cancer should not use oral contraceptives because breast cancer is a hormone-sensitive tumor.

Some studies have found an increase in the incidence of cancer or precancerous lesions of the cervix in women who use the pill. However, this finding may be related to factors other than the use of the pill.

The symptoms associated with these serious side effects are discussed in the detailed leaflet given to you with your supply of pills. Notify your doctor or healthcare provider if you notice any unusual physical disturbances while taking the pill. In addition, drugs such as rifampin, as well as some anticonvulsants, some antibiotics and some herbal products such as St. John’s Wort, may decrease oral contraceptive effectiveness.

Taking the pill may provide some important non-contraceptive benefits. These include less painful menstruation, less menstrual blood loss and anemia, fewer pelvic infections, and fewer cancers of the ovary and the lining of the uterus.

Be sure to discuss any medical condition you may have with your healthcare provider. Your healthcare provider will take a medical and family history before prescribing oral contraceptives and will examine you. The physical examination may be delayed to another time if you request it and the healthcare provider believes that it is appropriate to postpone it. You should be reexamined at least once a year while taking oral contraceptives. The detailed patient information booklet gives you further information which you should read and discuss with your healthcare provider.

This product (like all oral contraceptives) is intended to prevent pregnancy. Oral contraceptives do not protect against HIV infection (AIDS) and other sexually transmitted diseases such as chlamydia, genital herpes, genital warts, gonorrhea, hepatitis B, and syphilis.

INSTRUCTIONS TO PATIENTS

HOW TO TAKE THE PILL

IMPORTANT POINTS TO REMEMBER

BEFORE YOU START TAKING YOUR PILLS:

1. BE SURE TO READ THESE DIRECTIONS: Before you start taking your pills. Anytime you are sure what to do.
2. THE RIGHT WAY TO TAKE THE PILL IS TO TAKE ONE PILL EVERY DAY AT THE SAME TIME. YAZ CAN BE TAKEN WITHOUT REGARD TO MEALS. If you miss pills you could get pregnant. This includes starting the pack late. The more pills you miss, the more likely you are to get pregnant. See “WHAT TO DO IF YOU MISS PILLS” below.
3. MANY WOMEN HAVE SPOTTING OR LIGHT BLEEDING, OR MAY FEEL SICK TO THEIR STOMACH DURING THE FIRST 1-3 PACKS OF PILLS. If you do have spotting or light bleeding or feel sick to your stomach, do not stop taking the pill. The problem will usually go away. If it does not go away, check with your healthcare provider.
4. MISSING PILLS CAN ALSO CAUSE SPOTTING OR LIGHT BLEEDING, even when you make up these missed pills. On the days you take two pills, to make up for missed pills, you could also feel a little sick to your stomach.
5. IF YOU HAVE VOMITING (within 3 to 4 hours after you take your pill), you should follow the instructions for “WHAT TO DO IF YOU MISS PILLS”. If YOU HAVE DIARRHEA, or IF YOU TAKE CERTAIN MEDICINES, including some antibiotics and some herbal products such as St. John’s Wort, your pills may not work as well. Use a back-up method (such as condoms or spermicides) until you check with your healthcare provider.
6. IF YOU HAVE TROUBLE REMEMBERING TO TAKE THE PILL, talk to your healthcare provider about how to make pill-taking easier or about using another method of birth control.
7. IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS OR ARE UNSURE ABOUT THE INFORMATION IN THIS LEAFLET, call your healthcare provider.

BEFORE YOU START TAKING YOUR PILLS

1. DECIDE WHAT TIME OF DAY YOU WANT TO TAKE YOUR PILL. It is important to take YAZ at about the same time every day. YAZ can be taken without regard to meals.
2. LOOK AT YOUR PILL PACK: – It has 28 PILLS: The YAZ-pill pack has 24 light pink “active” pills (with hormones) to be taken for 24 days, followed by 4 white “reminder” pills (without hormones) to be taken for four days.
3. ALSO FIND:
 - 1) Where on the pack to start taking pills,
 - 2) In what order to take the pills (follow the arrows)
 - 3) The week numbers as shown in the diagram below

6. BE SURE YOU HAVE READY AT ALL TIMES: ANOTHER KIND OF BIRTH CONTROL (such as condoms or spermicides) to use as a back-up in case you miss pills.
- AN EXTRA, FULL PILL PACK.

WHEN TO START THE FIRST PACK OF PILLS

You have a choice for which day to start taking your first pack of pills. Decide with your healthcare provider which is the best day for you. Pick a time of day which will be easy to remember.

DAY 1 START:

1. Take the first light pink “active” pill of the first pack during the first 24 hours of your period.
2. You will not need to use a back-up method of birth control, since you are starting the pill at the beginning of your period.

SUNDAY START:

1. Take the first light pink “active” pill of the first pack on the Sunday after your period starts, even if you are still bleeding. If your period begins on Sunday, start the pack that same day.
2. Use another method of birth control (such as condoms or spermicides) as a back-up method if you have sex anytime from the Sunday you start your first pack until the next Sunday (7 days).

WHEN YOU SWITCH FROM A DIFFERENT BIRTH CONTROL PILL

When switching from another birth control pill, YAZ should be started on the same day that a new pack of the previous birth control pills would have been started.

WHAT TO DO DURING THE MONTH

1. TAKE ONE PILL AT THE SAME TIME EVERY DAY UNTIL THE PACK IS EMPTY Do not skip pills even if you are spotting or bleeding between monthly periods or feel sick to your stomach (nausea). Do not skip pills even if you do not have sex very often.
2. WHEN YOU FINISH A PACK OF PILLS: Start the next pack on the day after your last white “reminder” pill. Do not wait any days between packs.

If you MISS 1 light pink “active” pill in Week 1 of your pack:

1. Take it as soon as you remember. Take the next pill at your regular time. This means you may take two pills in one day.
 2. You do not need to use a back-up birth control method if you have sex.
- If you MISS 2 light pink “active” pills in a row in WEEK 1 or WEEK 2 of your pack:
1. Take two pills on the day you remember and two pills the next day.
 2. Then take one pill a day until you finish the pack.
 3. You COULD BECOME PREGNANT if you have sex in the 7 days after you restart your pills. You MUST use another birth control method (such as condoms or spermicides) as a back-up for those 7 days.

If you MISS 2 light pink “active” pills in a row in WEEK 3 or WEEK 4 of your pack:

1. If you are a Day 1 Starter: THROW OUT the rest of the pill pack and start a new pack that same day. If you are a Sunday Starter: Keep taking one pill every day until Sunday. On Sunday, THROW OUT the rest of the pack and start a new pack of pills that same day.
2. You COULD BECOME PREGNANT if you have sex in the 7 days after you restart your pills. You MUST use another birth control method (such as condoms or spermicides) as a back-up for those 7 days.
3. You may not have your period this month but this is expected. However, if you miss your period two months in a row, call your healthcare provider because you might be pregnant.

If you MISS 3 OR MORE light pink “active” pills in a row during ANY week:

1. If you are a Day 1 Starter: THROW OUT the rest of the pill pack and start a new pack that same day. If you are a Sunday Starter: Keep taking 1 pill every day until Sunday. On Sunday, THROW OUT the rest of the pack and start a new pack of pills that same day.
2. You COULD BECOME PREGNANT if you have sex in the 7 days after you restart pills. You MUST use another birth control method (such as condoms or spermicides) as a back-up for those 7 days.
3. You may not have your period this month but this is expected. However, if you miss your period two months in a row, call your healthcare provider because you might be pregnant.

If you MISS ANY of the 4 white “reminder” pills in Week 4:

1. THROW AWAY the pills you missed. Keep taking one pill each day until the pack is empty. You do not need a back-up method of birth control.

FINALLY, IF YOU ARE STILL NOT SURE WHAT TO DO ABOUT THE PILLS YOU HAVE MISSED:

Use a BACK-UP METHOD (such as condoms or spermicides) anytime you have sex.

KEEP TAKING ONE ACTIVE LIGHT PINK PILL EACH DAY until you can contact your healthcare provider.

They stop for fast food

Kim Kardashian hit the In-N-Out Burger in Beverly Hills on December 24 with her beau, NFL star Reggie Bush, in tow. Guess he can keep up with this Kardashian.

They run out of cash

John Mayer took money out of an ATM after doing a little last-minute holiday shopping in NYC's Soho on December 24.

They shop at CVS

Lindsay Lohan couldn't seem to pull herself away from the makeup aisle at a CVS in New York on December 27.

SHE STILL LOVES TO HAVE FUN

Nicole (here with her little sister Sophia, left) received a huge cheer from the children when she asked, "Who wants to throw pies in Joel's face?" The couple also enjoyed face painting and making balloon animals with the kids.

THEY REALLY CARE

Joel and Nicole created their foundation just one month ago. "Los Angeles has the highest number of homeless people in the country," says Joel. "We knew we had to do something to help."

Nicole's ready for MOTHERHOOD

Nicole Richie practiced her parenting skills before her big delivery

Days before her baby's birth, a glowing Nicole Richie and her fiancé, Joel Madden, made the holidays a little brighter for some underprivileged children. The pair's Richie-Madden Children's Foundation treated 200 kids from Beyond Shelter to a party at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles on December 22.

"We really wanted to give these kids a truly wonderful and special Christmas," says Nicole, 26, who smiled as she and Joel gave away pairs of Stride Rite shoes and Cloud B Cuddle Club teddy bears. It was a very special time for Nicole and Joel, 28, as they counted down the moments until their own child was born. "They had such a good time at the event," says a witness. "Obviously, they were so happy to be around the children."

It's hard to believe that just a year ago, Nicole was at her lowest point, battling severe weight loss, too much partying and an arrest for DUI on December 11, 2006. "Today, Nicole has conquered her eating issues, cleaned up her lifestyle, completely stopped partying and has found God," says a family insider. "Now she'd rather go to church than shop."

And with their new baby, 2008 promises to be even better. "Nicole and Joel are getting married this year," says the insider. "They are madly in love. They're planning to spend the rest of their lives together, raising babies and making each other laugh."

EVERYONE GOT GIFTS

Nicole and Joel created a mountain of 500 teddies to give away. "It seemed like they were having as much fun as the kids, maybe even more," says a witness.

NICOLE INDULGES HER CRAVINGS

Since she became pregnant, Nicole has surrendered to her desire for comfort food. "Nicole would rather have pizza or a corn dog than a steak dinner," says the insider. So when she felt the need for a deep-dish pizza after midnight on December 22, Joel got it for her. Says the insider: "They couldn't find anyone to deliver it, so Joel drove to pick it up."

Britney Spears is no longer her family's most talked-about member, and she's not happy about it. "When Britney is not on every magazine cover, she gets upset," says an insider, who suggests that Britney, 26, has been acting out since her 16-year-old sister, Jamie Lynn, revealed her pregnancy on December 18. "She loves her little sister," says the pal, "but she really does love the spotlight, too."

Britney's DESPERATE

Ever since her teenage sister announced her controversial pregnancy, Britney Spears has been working overtime to get publicity for herself

She hooked up with a photographer

After dinner at Taverna Tony in Malibu with her assistant, Brit took the business card of British photographer Adnan Ghalib on December 22. Later, she met up with him and got into his car to go to Walgreens, a gas station and the Peninsula Hotel. "Britney knows how to escape the paparazzi if she wants to," says an insider. "The problem is that they've become her only friends." Ghalib was seen leaving her hotel at 4 a.m.

She went shopping at midnight

"I have stuff I have to buy for my babies," Britney said at a Sunset Boulevard Rite Aid when she went in on December 21 and started testing deodorant sprays. She ended up spending $58 on laundry detergent, cereal, cookies and a stuffed toy horse, which is made for children over 4. (Sean Preston is 2, and Jayden is 16 months.)

She toured public restrooms

Britney stopped at two gas station restrooms on December 22. She was also overheard inside one yelling on her cell phone about a recording studio. Later that night, she used a Walgreens restroom as a photographer stood guard.

She dressed outrageously

Britney pulled out her pink wig and leopard dress for her date with Adnan. "Look how she changes outfits all day," addiction expert Marty Brenner, who does not treat Britney, tells a paper. "She's saying, 'I don't like who I am right now.'"

She bought pink baby clothes

Jamie Lynn hasn't announced the sex of her baby, but Britney seemed to be sending a message as she posed with pink baby clothes at Hollywood & Highland shopping center in LA on December 20.

TOM PAYS THE BILLS

"Tom is the biggest movie star in the world, so Katie doesn't feel bad about spending so much money," a pal says.

SHE'S SHOPPED

BERLIN IN JULY

Katie had lots of time for shopping in the city as Tom filmed Valkyrie. She left a shop in the Corner Berlin area with a new brown leather jacket on July 30.

Katie's spending is of control!

Sure, they've got plenty of money. But Tom Cruise is worried that Katie Holmes' outrageous shopping sprees could cause problems in their marriage

As Katie Holmes prepared to leave Beverly Hills to spend the holidays in Colorado with her husband, Tom Cruise, she received a beautiful bouquet of flowers in a crystal vase. But the arrangement wasn't from Tom, it was from another admirer — Neiman Marcus.

It's no wonder that the exclusive department store is sending gifts to Katie. As In Touch can exclusively reveal, the actress spent more than $100,000 in less than a few hours there on December 15. Such sprees are becoming more common for Katie — and her husband has finally noticed. Tom never thought he could be shocked by his wife's spending habits, but an insider says the bills he's been seeing recently truly startle him. Katie is now spending "way more money" than Tom's famously well-dressed ex-wife Nicole Kidman, says the pal. "Nicole was a shopper, but Katie is a professional," the friend adds. "Katie could outspend Nicole without even trying."

Tom wants Katie to stop

Katie, 29, has been spending like mad — and not just on herself. Although her rep denies such expensive shopping sprees, Katie recently purchased a vintage Hermès Kelly bag for her pal Victoria Beckham at Maxfield's on Melrose, and an $8,000 vintage 18-karat-gold Montblanc pen for her father, Martin.

Though Tom has more than enough money to pay Katie's bills, he's careful with his finances. "She drops thousands of dollars each time she goes to a store," says the pal. "Tom thinks it's getting over the top. He doesn't want her shopping to lead to fights between them." He also wonders why Katie feels the need to buy so much. "Katie wasn't like this when she first started dating Tom," says the pal. "She used to buy her clothes at the Gap. But now she's rarely caught in the same thing twice, no matter how much it costs."

Katie's friends say that Tom, 45, may soon be compelled to put his foot down. "Katie never met a store she didn't like," the pal admits. "She could find something to buy at the North Pole."

Lindsay and Riley broke up after their trip to New York in November. "She's moved on, but he still calls her," says a friend.

Lindsay was the one who asked for his cell number in rehab, Riley says.

Lindsay snapped this shot of herself showing off her abs.

Lindsay betrayed

Lindsay Lohan was shocked to hear that her ex-boyfriend, snowboarder Riley Giles, had talked about their sex life in a paid interview with Britain's News of the World. "Lindsay's definitely a nymphomaniac. She's wild in bed," Riley told the paper, theorizing that Lindsay had replaced her enthusiasm for drugs with sex and shopping. "Her whole day consists of spending, every day," he said, adding, "She gets her hair done every day and has a spray tan twice a week.

I don't think it's healthy." Lindsay, 21, met Riley, 25, at Cirque Lodge rehab in Utah and continued to date him for a few weeks after she returned to LA. "It's always difficult when you care about someone, but long distance is fine, we can do it," Lindsay told In Touch at the time. The distance finally split them, but Lindsay was surprised by Riley's betrayal. "Lindsay thought she could trust him, they went through so much together," says a friend.

▲ "Lindsay is furious that Riley would do that to her," a pal says. "She feels like he sold her out."

Even though a rep denied it at the time, Mischa reportedly nearly overdosed at Nicole Richie's Memorial Day party, but that wasn't enough to get her into rehab. Her pal says that Mischa turned to partying to cope with her problems — she's not happy with her career or love life. "This will be a wake-up call," her pal hopes. "She's young enough to get help and turn her life around."

It's not easy being Mischa these days. On December 20, she attempted to make a purchase at the Apple Store in Shadyside, Pittsburgh, when according to a witness, she was "shocked to learn that her credit card was declined." The O.C. star was in town filming the indie thriller Homecoming.

Jen's lonely Christmas

Jennifer Aniston spent another Christmas Eve with her best friend, Courteney Cox, and her family, but when she stepped under the mistletoe at Mastro's Steakhouse in Beverly Hills, she had no one to kiss. "Poor Jen, I think she's starting to hate this time of year," a pal says. "Santa didn't bring her the boyfriend she wants." Although Jen and Courteney have spent the past four Christmas Eves together at the popular steakhouse, an insider says that Jen has been dreaming of other plans. "Jen struck out at love in 2007," her pal explains. "She ended two relationships, and went on countless dates that went nowhere." Although Jen and Courteney had a good time at dinner, her pal reveals that it wasn't enough to put Jen in the holiday spirit. "Jen couldn't wait until the holidays were over," says the pal. "They are just another reminder of how unlucky in love she really is."

Tony lifts Eva's spirits

Tony Parker feels terrible that his new wife, Eva Longoria, has had to weather the embarrassment of a French model's claims that Tony cheated with her, even though Tony insists that he has never met the woman. "Eva believes her husband 100 percent," her friend reveals. "She even encouraged Tony to sue over the story." According to the insider,

Tony has been buying Eva "a gift a day," ever since the controversial story broke, from aquamarine earrings to a Fendi Spy Bag and gorgeous roses. "These aren't guilt gifts, since Tony has nothing to feel guilty about. These are 'I love you gifts,'" the pal says. "They had a wonderful, happy holiday together and are looking forward to the new year," Eva's rep says.

"They are still madly in love," says the insider.

Leo recently did some remodeling of his Hollywood Hills home and he installed a top-of-the-line Toto toilet complete with a seat warmer, automatic flusher and bidet options. Leo's very concerned about the environment, so even though his latrine is loaded with features, it's also a water-saver — and that's why he shelled out more than $3,200 for it. "Leo loves his new toilet," his pal says. "It's

According to an insider, Rick wants to save the marriage, so he agreed to do anything Pam asked — including weekly therapy sessions. "Pam loves Rick, but she's not sure they were meant to be married," her pal explains. "Rick, on the other hand, thinks that they're meant to be together. They are so different in so many ways — that's why Pam insisted on therapy." The pal adds, "It's just too bad they didn't decide to do this before they took their vows. Maybe this embarrassing mess could have been avoided." Although they've only been to a few sessions, it seems to be working. "They're talking more and fighting a lot less," the insider says. Read this leaflet carefully before you use NuvaRing® so that you understand the benefits and risks of using this form of birth control. The leaflet gives you information about the possible serious side effects of NuvaRing®. This leaflet will also tell you how to use NuvaRing® properly so that it will give you the best possible protection against pregnancy. Read the information you get whenever you get a new prescription or refill, because there may be new information. This information does not take the place of talking with your healthcare provider.

What is NuvaRing®?

NuvaRing® (NEW-vah-ring) is a flexible combined contraceptive vaginal ring. It is used to prevent pregnancy. It does not protect against HIV infection (AIDS) and other sexually transmitted diseases (STD's) such as chlamydia, genital herpes, genital warts, gonorrhea, hepatitis B, and syphilis. NuvaRing® contains a combination of a progestin and estrogen, two kinds of female hormones. You insert the ring in your vagina and leave it there for three weeks. After the ring is inserted, it releases a continuous low dose of hormones into your body. You then remove it for a one-week ring-free period. Contraceptives that contain both an estrogen and a progestin are called combination hormonal contraceptives. Most studies on combination contraceptives have used oral (taken by mouth) contraceptives. NuvaRing® may have the same risks that have been found for combination oral contraceptives. This leaflet will tell you about risks of taking combination oral contraceptives that may also apply to NuvaRing® users. In addition, it will tell you how to use NuvaRing® properly so that it will give you the best possible protection against pregnancy.

Who should not use NuvaRing®?

Cigarette smoking increases the risk of serious cardiovascular side effects when you use combination oral contraceptives. This risk increases even more if you are over age 35 and if you smoke 15 or more cigarettes a day. Women who use combination hormonal contraceptives, including NuvaRing®, are strongly advised not to smoke.

Do not use NuvaRing® if you have any of the following conditions: • pregnancy or suspected pregnancy • blood clots in your legs (thrombosis), lungs (pulmonary embolism), or eyes (now or in the past) • chest pain (angina pectoris) • heart attack or stroke • severe high blood pressure • diabetes with complications of the kidneys, eyes, nerves, or blood vessels • headaches with neurological symptoms • known or suspected breast cancer or cancer of the lining of the uterus, cervix, or vagina (now or in the past) • unexplained vaginal bleeding • yellowing of the whites of the eyes or of the skin (jaundice) during pregnancy or during past use of oral contraceptives (birth control pills) • liver tumors or active liver disease • disease of the heart valves with complications • need for a long period of bed rest following major surgery • an allergic reaction to any of the components of NuvaRing®. Tell your healthcare provider if you have ever had any of the conditions just listed. Your healthcare provider can suggest another method of birth control. Talk with your healthcare provider about when to start NuvaRing® if you are recovering from the birth of a child or a second trimester miscarriage or abortion or if you are breast-feeding. In addition, talk to your healthcare provider about using NuvaRing® if you have any of the following conditions. Women with any of these conditions should be checked often by their doctor or healthcare provider if they choose to use NuvaRing®: • a family history of breast cancer • breast nodules, fibrocystic disease, an abnormal breast x-ray, or abnormal mammogram • diabetes • high blood pressure • high cholesterol or triglycerides • headaches or epilepsy • mental depression • gallbladder or kidney disease • major surgery (You may need to stop using NuvaRing® for a while to reduce your chance of getting blood clots.) • any condition that makes the vagina get irritated easily • prolapsed (dropped) uterus, dropped bladder (cystocele), or rectal prolapse (rectocele) • severe constipation • history of toxic shock syndrome.

How should I use NuvaRing®?

For the best protection from pregnancy, use NuvaRing® exactly as directed. Insert one NuvaRing® in the vagina and keep it in place for three weeks in a row. Remove it for a one-week break and then insert a new ring. During the one-week break, you will usually have your menstrual period. Your healthcare provider should examine you at least once a year to see if there are any signs of side effects of NuvaRing® use.

When should I start NuvaRing®?

Follow the instructions in one of the sections below to find out when to start using NuvaRing®: If you did not use a hormonal contraceptive in the preceding cycle Insert NuvaRing® on the first day of your cycle, (i.e., the first day of menstrual bleeding). NuvaRing® will work immediately, it is not necessary to use an additional contraceptive method. You may also start on days 2-5 of your cycle, but in this case make sure you also use an extra method of birth control (barrier method), such as male condoms or spermicide for the first seven days of NuvaRing® use in the first cycle. If you are changing from a combined hormonal contraceptive pill or patch (containing both progestin and estrogen) Switch from your previous combined hormonal contraceptive on any day, but at the latest on the day following the usual hormone-free interval by inserting NuvaRing®. If you have been using your hormonal contraceptive method consistently and correctly, no extra birth control method should be needed. If you are changing from a progestagen-only method (minipill, implant or injection) or from a progestagen-releasing intrauterine system (IUS) You may switch on any day from a minipill. You should switch from an implant or the IUS on the day of its removal and from an injectable on the day when the next injection would be due. In all of these cases, you should use an extra method of birth control, such as a male condom or spermicide, for the first seven days of ring use. Following first trimester abortion or miscarriage If you start using NuvaRing® within five days after a complete first trimester abortion or miscarriage, you do not need to use an extra method of contraception. If NuvaRing® is not started within five days after a first trimester abortion or miscarriage, begin NuvaRing® at the time of your next menstrual period. Counting the first day of your menstrual period as "Day 1", insert NuvaRing® on or before Day 5 of the cycle, even if you have not finished bleeding. During this first cycle, use an extra method of birth control, such as male condoms or spermicide, for the first seven days of ring use.

When do I insert a new ring?

After no more than a one-week ring-free break, insert a new ring on the same day of the week as it was removed in the last cycle. If the ring-free interval has been extended beyond one week, the possibility of pregnancy should be considered, and an extra method of birth control, such as male condoms or spermicide, MUST be used until NuvaRing® has been used continuously for seven days.

If NuvaRing® slips out:

NuvaRing® can accidentally slip out of the vagina while removing a tampon, during intercourse, or straining during a bowel movement. If NuvaRing® slips out of the vagina and it has been out for less than three hours, you should still be protected from pregnancy. NuvaRing® can be rinsed with cool to lukewarm (not hot) water and reinserted as soon as possible, and at the latest within three hours of removal or expulsion (slipping out). If NuvaRing® is out of the vagina for more than three continuous hours: During Weeks 1 and 2: If the ring has been out of the vagina for more than three continuous hours during the 1st or 2nd week of use, contraceptive effectiveness may be reduced. Reinsert ring as soon as you remember and use an extra method of birth control, such as male condoms or spermicide, until the ring has been used continuously for seven days. During Week 3: If NuvaRing® slips out of the vagina for more than three continuous hours during the 3rd week of the three-week use period, throw the ring away and choose one of the following two options. 1. Insert a new ring immediately. Inserting a new ring will start the next three-week use period. You may not experience a period from your previous cycle. However, breakthrough spotting or bleeding may occur. 2. Have your period and insert a new ring no later than seven days (7x24 hours) from the time the previous ring was removed or expelled. This option should only be chosen if the ring was used continuously for the preceding seven days. In addition, a barrier method such as condoms or spermicides must be used until the ring has been used continuously for seven days. Women with conditions affecting the vagina, such as a prolapsed (dropped) uterus, may be more likely to have NuvaRing® slip out of the vagina. If NuvaRing® slips out repeatedly, you should consult with your healthcare provider.

If NuvaRing® is in your vagina too long:

If NuvaRing® has been left in your vagina for an extra week or less (four weeks total or less), you will remain protected. Remove NuvaRing® and insert a new ring after a one-week ring-free break. If NuvaRing® has been left in place for more than four weeks, you may not be adequately protected from pregnancy and you must check to be sure you are not pregnant. You MUST use an extra method of birth control, such as male condoms or spermicide, until the new NuvaRing® has been in place for seven days in a row.

If you miss a menstrual period:

You must check to be sure that you are not pregnant if: 1. you miss a period and NuvaRing® was out of the vagina for more than three hours during the three weeks of ring use; 2. you miss a period and waited longer than one week to insert a new ring; 3. you have followed the instructions and you miss two periods in a row; 4. you have left NuvaRing® in place for longer than four weeks.

Can I use tampons when using NuvaRing®?

Use of tampons will not reduce the contraceptive efficacy of NuvaRing®. Insert NuvaRing® before inserting a tampon. You should pay particular attention when removing a tampon to be sure that the ring is not accidentally pulled out. If this should occur, simply rinse the ring in cool to lukewarm (not hot) water and immediately reinsert it.

Can I use vaginal medications?

Use of spermicides or vaginal yeast products will not reduce the contraceptive efficacy of NuvaRing®.

What should I do if my NuvaRing® disconnects?

There have been reported cases of NuvaRing® disconnecting at the weld joint causing the ring to change shape and straighten out. This is not expected to affect the contraceptive effectiveness of NuvaRing®. If NuvaRing® disconnects, expulsion (slipping out) is more likely to occur (see "If NuvaRing® slips out"). If you discover the ring has disconnected, you should discard the ring and replace it with a new ring.

Overdose

NuvaRing® is unlikely to cause an overdose because the ring holding the medicine releases a steady amount of contraceptive hormones. Do not use more than one ring at a time. Overdose of combination hormonal contraceptives may cause nausea, vomiting, or vaginal bleeding.

What should I avoid while using NuvaRing®?

Cigarette smoking increases the risk of serious cardiovascular side effects when you use combination oral contraceptives, including NuvaRing®. This risk increases even more if you are over age 35 and if you smoke 15 or more cigarettes a day. Women who use combination hormonal contraceptives, like NuvaRing®, are strongly advised not to smoke. Do not breast-feed while using NuvaRing®. Some of the medicine may pass through the milk to the baby and could cause yellowing of the skin (jaundice) and breast enlargement in your baby. NuvaRing® could also decrease the amount and quality of your breast milk. The hormones in NuvaRing® can interact with many other medicines and herbal supplements. Tell your healthcare provider about any medicines you are taking, including prescription medicines, over-the-counter medicines, herbal remedies, and vitamins. The blood levels of the hormones released by NuvaRing® were increased when women used a vaginal medication (miconazole nitrate) for a yeast infection while NuvaRing® was in place. The pregnancy protection of NuvaRing® is not likely to be changed by use of these products. The blood levels of these hormones were not changed when women used vaginal, water-based spermicides (nonoxonyl or N-9 products) along with NuvaRing®. Certain drugs and herbal supplements may interact with combined hormonal contraceptives to make them less effective in preventing pregnancy or cause an increase in breakthrough bleeding. Such drugs include rifampin, drugs used for epilepsy such as barbiturates (for example, phenobarbital), carbamazepine, and phenytoin, primidone, topiramate, phenylbutazone, modafinil, and some drugs used for HIV such as ritonavir. Pregnancies and breakthrough bleeding have been reported by users of combined hormonal contraceptives who also used the herbal supplement St. John's Wort. You may need to use a non-hormonal method of contraception during any cycle in which you take drugs that can make oral contraceptives less effective. Be sure to tell your healthcare provider if you are taking or start taking any other medications, including non-prescription products or herbal products while using NuvaRing®. While using NuvaRing®, you should not rely upon a diaphragm when you need a back-up method of birth control because NuvaRing® may interfere with the correct placement and position of a diaphragm. If you are scheduled for any laboratory tests, tell your doctor or healthcare provider you are using NuvaRing®. Contraceptive hormones may change certain blood tests results.

What are the possible risks and side effects of NuvaRing®?

- Blood clots The hormones in NuvaRing® may cause changes in your blood clotting system which may allow your blood to clot more easily. If blood clots form in your legs, they can travel to the lungs and cause a sudden blockage of a vessel carrying blood to the lungs. Rarely, clots occur in the blood vessels of the eye and may cause blindness, double vision, or other vision problems. The risk of getting blood clots may be greater with the type of progestin in NuvaRing® than with some other progestins in certain low-dose birth control pills. It is unknown if the risk of blood clots is different with NuvaRing® use than with the use of certain birth control pills. • Strokes and heart attacks Hormonal contraceptives may increase your risk of strokes (blockage of blood flow to the brain) or heart attacks (blockage of blood flow to the heart). Any of these conditions can cause death or serious disability. Smoking greatly increases the risk of having strokes and heart attacks. Furthermore, smoking and the use of combination hormonal contraceptives, like NuvaRing®, greatly increases the chances of developing and the risk of heart disease. If you use combination hormonal contraceptives, including NuvaRing®, you should not smoke. • High blood pressure and heart disease Combination hormonal contraceptives, including NuvaRing®, can worsen conditions like high blood pressure, diabetes, and problems with cholesterol and triglycerides.
- Cancer of the breast Various studies give conflicting reports on the relationship between breast cancer and hormonal contraceptive use. Combination hormonal contraceptives, including NuvaRing®, may slightly increase your chance of having breast cancer diagnosed. After you stop using hormonal contraceptives, the chance of having breast cancer diagnosed begins to go back down. You should have regular breast examinations by a healthcare provider and examine your own breasts monthly. Tell your healthcare provider if you have a family history of breast cancer or if you have had breast nodules or an abnormal mammogram. • Gallbladder disease Combination hormonal contraceptive users may have a higher chance of having gallbladder disease. • Liver tumors In rare cases, combination hormonal contraceptives, like NuvaRing®, can cause non-cancerous (benign) but dangerous liver tumors. These benign liver tumors can break and cause fatal internal bleeding. In addition, it is possible that women who use combination hormonal contraceptives, like NuvaRing®, have a higher chance of getting liver cancer. However, liver cancers are extremely rare. The common side effects reported by NuvaRing® users are: • vaginal infections and irritation • vaginal secretion • headache • weight gain • nausea. In addition to the risks and side effects listed above, users of combination hormonal contraceptives have reported the following side effects: • vomiting • change in appetite • abdominal cramps and bloating • breast tenderness or enlargement • irregular vaginal bleeding or spotting • changes in menstrual cycle • temporary infertility after treatment • fluid retention (edema) • spotty darkening of the skin, particularly on the face • rash • weight changes • depression • intolerance to contact lenses. Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the symptoms listed below. They may be signs of a serious problem: • sharp chest pain, coughing blood, or sudden shortness of breath (possible clot in the lung) • pain in the calf (back of lower leg; possible clot in the leg) • crushing chest pain or heaviness in the chest (possible heart attack) • sudden severe headache or vomiting, dizziness or fainting, problems with vision or speech, weakness, or numbness in an arm or leg (possible stroke) • sudden partial or complete loss of vision (possible clot in the eye) • yellowing of the skin or whites of the eyes (jaundice), especially with fever, tiredness, loss of appetite, dark colored urine, or light colored bowel movements (possible liver problems) • severe pain, swelling, or tenderness in the abdomen (gallbladder or liver problems) • sudden fever (usually 102°F or more), vomiting, diarrhea, dizziness, fainting, or a sunburn-like rash on the face or body (very rarely, toxic shock syndrome) • breast lumps (possible breast cancer or benign breast disease) • irregular vaginal bleeding or spotting that happens in more than one menstrual cycle or lasts for more than a few days • swelling (edema) of your fingers or ankles • difficulty in sleeping, weakness, lack of energy, fatigue, or a change in mood (possible severe depression).

How effective is NuvaRing®?

If NuvaRing® is used according to the directions, your chance of getting pregnant is about 1 to 2% a year. This means that, for every 100 women who use NuvaRing® for a year, one or two will become pregnant. Your chance of getting pregnant increases if NuvaRing® is not used exactly according to the directions. By comparison, the chances of getting pregnant in the first year of typical use (not always following directions exactly) of other methods of birth control are as follows: No birth control method: 85%; Spermicides alone: 26%; Periodic abstinence: 20%; methods (calendar, ovulation, thermometer): 25%; Withdrawal: 19%; Cervical Cap with spermicides: 20%; Vaginal sponge: 20 to 40%; Diaphragm with spermicides: 20%; Condom alone (male): 14%; Condom alone (female): 21%; Oral contraceptives: 5%; IUD: less than 1 to 2%; Implants: less than 1%; Injection: less than 1%; Sterilization: less than 1%.

Other Information

- Store NuvaRing® at room temperature, 25°C (77°F). Temperatures can be from 59–86°F (15–30°C). Avoid direct sunlight or storing above 86°F (30°C).
- Medicines are sometimes prescribed for conditions that are not mentioned in patient information leaflets. Do not use NuvaRing® for a condition for which it was not prescribed. Do not give NuvaRing® to anyone else who may want to use it.
- Place the used ring in the reclosable foil pouch and properly dispose of it in a waste receptacle out of the reach of children and pets. This leaflet summarizes the most important information about NuvaRing®. If you would like more information, talk with your healthcare provider. You can ask your pharmacist or healthcare provider for information about NuvaRing® that is written for health professionals.

"Ashley's appearance has been so dramatically altered, producers want to include the surgery in the storyline for High School Musical 3 to explain her new look," an insider tells In Touch. However, if the writers' strike is still on when HSM3 begins filming in March, Ashley may have to improvise an explanation for Sharpay's new nose. May we suggest "deviated septum"?

Eva gives a tuxedo look a sexy twist

EVA LONGORIA

As an NBA wife, Eva Longoria spends a lot of her time in testosterone-filled environments like basketball arenas, so perhaps it's not surprising that for a recent Victoria's Secret fashion show, Eva went for a menswear style like this tuxedo-inspired minidress by Roberto Cavalli at H&M. "The new trend is mixing together masculine and feminine elements," explains designer Miguelina Gambaccini, adding that the best thing about the tux-dress combo is that it can make a woman feel both powerful and sexy.

ADORABLE ANIMAL

It's panda-monium in San Diego

Visitors to the San Diego Zoo got a special treat on December 22. Zhen Zhen, the giant panda born on December 3, made her first public appearance. She had been kept hidden from the crowds before that time to keep her as comfortable as possible. She's pictured with her mother, Bai Yun.

BABY DRIVER

Make a left at the playpen

Driving came before walking for 6-month-old Aniya Harris, who test-drove a robotic vehicle for researchers at the University of Delaware. The robot, dubbed UD1, is controlled by a joystick, so even infants can maneuver it. Though Aniya isn't disabled, the project was designed to help disabled infants gain mobility. The robotic vehicles are not yet on the market, but doctors hope they will eventually help children with orthopedic problems and muscular dystrophy.

LONG LOST MOM

A happy reunion in the hardware aisle

Steve Flaig, a delivery driver at Lowe's in Grand Rapids, Mich., had searched for his birth mother for years. He found her running the register! "It's the best Christmas present ever," birth mom Christine Tallady says. Steve, 22, had contacted his adoption agency, which gave him Tallady's name, which he traced to a local address. He mentioned it to his boss, who asked, "You mean Chris Tallady, who works here?" And the mystery was solved.

INCREDIBLE BAR

The bouncer's a squirrel!

This is what we call a beer garden! The Baobab Pub, built into the trunk of an ancient tree, looks more like a magical set from The Lord of the Rings than a real tavern. The bar has been open for business for more than 20 years, drawing thousands of visitors a year to this naturally hollow 6,000-year-old Baobab tree in Limpopo, South Africa. With inside heights reaching 72 feet and floor space as wide as 155 feet, the bar can comfortably fit about 15 people.

They made sweet music

Janet Jackson recently confirmed that she did indeed date Matthew McConaughey briefly after they met at the 2002 Grammy Awards. "I found her to be a very, very sweet lady," says Matt. "We swapped some good music."

She didn't want to hurt him

Cameron Diaz was once so smitten with Jared Leto that she refused to do a sex scene with Tom Cruise in Vanilla Sky. "I don't want to get into bed with someone else," she said at the time. Cameron and Jared dated for four years, but she dumped him in 2003 after he allegedly cheated on her with Paris Hilton.

He made a mistake

Jerry O'Connell admits his behavior ruined his relationship with high school gal pal Sarah Michelle Gellar in 1999. "I was too much of an idiot," he says. "I needed to work on my attention span."

Stayed in touch

Conan O'Brien and Lisa Kudrow dated when they were both unknowns in the Groundlings comedy improv group in the late '80s. They remain friends to this day: She even attended his 2002 wedding to Liza Powel.

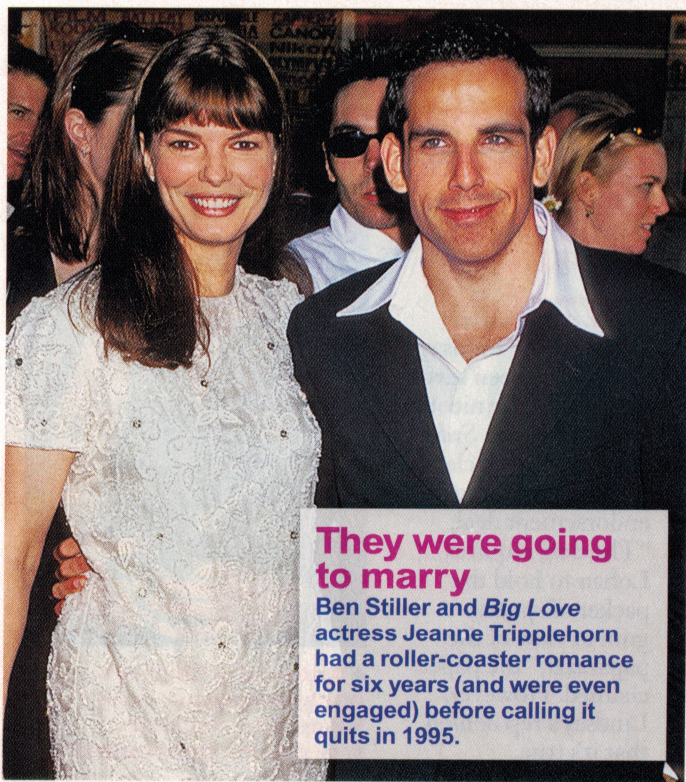

More than friends

Sparks flew between Matthew Perry and Julia Roberts when she did a guest spot on Friends in January 1996. They dated for two months but then the passion fizzled out. "We had fun, but the love affair never existed," Julia says.

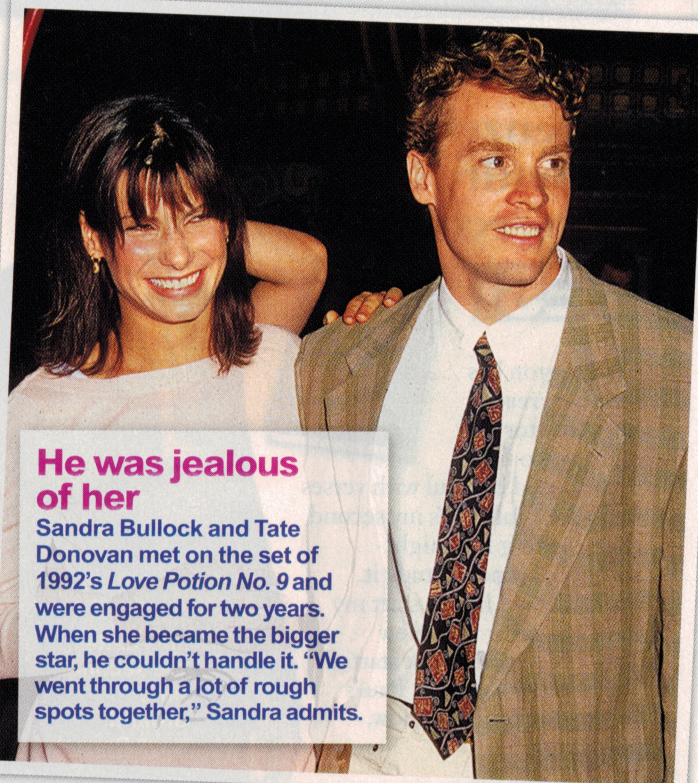

dated?

They didn't make it for the long haul, but at the time, these couples sizzled like soulmates!

They were going to marry

Ben Stiller and Big Love actress Jeanne Tripplehorn had a roller-coaster romance for six years (and were even engaged) before calling it quits in 1995.

He was jealous of her

Sandra Bullock and Tate Donovan met on the set of 1992's Love Potion No. 9 and were engaged for two years. When she became the bigger star, he couldn't handle it. "We went through a lot of rough spots together," Sandra admits.

Did Angelina and Brad save a struggling toy store?

YES! His store in North Hollywood is called The Blessing, but shop owner Arturo Jimenez was praying for a financial miracle to help him survive the holiday season. It arrived when Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt walked in the door in early December. The power couple purchased $70 worth of toys including a pair of monster trucks and two dolls, and then told Arturo to keep the change from $200, reports Splash News & Picture Agency. Since news of Angelina and Brad's visit got around, new customers have been flocking to the familyrun store. "It's a blessing, something I asked God for," Arturo told tmz.com. "I prayed to God, send me a sign. She's an angel!"

◀ Angelina and Brad also posed for photographs with Arturo and members of his family.

Is Denzel reading the entire Bible — for a second time?

YES!

Denzel Washington has scripts to read, but the actor still manages to find time to feed his soul with verses from the Bible. "It's my second time reading it straight-through. I kind of study it. It's just how I like to start my day," the actor told New York's Newsday. "I just started the Book of Romans. Paul's in trouble. But you know, he's tough."

"It's better the second time around," says Denzel.

Is Lindsay being paid to carry a nicotine substitute?

NO!

After Lindsay Lohan was seen several times with the nicotine mint Ariva, the Sydney Morning Herald claimed it was due to a sneaky endorsement deal. "The deal requires Lohan to hold the packet of special gum in view of the paparazzi," the paper claimed. However, Lindsay's rep denied that it's true.

▲ A new pal of Lindsay's, Australian playboy Andy Valmorbida, reportedly arranged the endorsement.

A web site called ruinromo.com urged Tony's opponents' fans to wear Jessica Simpson masks to upcoming games!

Does Tony's teammate really believe Jessica is bad luck?

NO! After Dallas Cowboys quarterback Tony Romo's disastrous December 16 game with his new girlfriend, Jessica Simpson, in attendance, it was rumored that Jessica was no longer welcome at the stadium. "Right now, Jessica Simpson is not a fan favorite, in this locker room or in Texas Stadium," his teammate Terrell Owens said after the game. But Terrell later said he meant the comment as a joke. "He had a bad game. I don't think she had anything to do with it," the player told the New York Daily News.

"This is just the first 10 years is how we look at it," says Will.

Do Will and Jada plan to celebrate their 10th anniversary with a high-five?

YES! Surviving a decade of marriage is an accomplishment for any couple, but it's even more impressive in Hollywood, where lengthy unions are few and far between! However, I Am Legend star Will Smith and his wife, Jada Pinkett Smith, didn't make special plans to celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary on December 31. "I said, 'What do you want to do? It's 10 years,'" Will said on Live With Regis and Kelly on December 12. "She was like, 'We'll pretty much high-five, smack each other on the butt, say 'Good job,' and go to bed.'"

Her sentence may be reduced for good behavior.

ZAC'S GOT THE "SURI"

It doesn't look like High School Musical star Zac Efron needs any hair spray to keep his short and shaggy 'do, inspired by 20-month-old Suri Cruise, in perfect place.

HIPPIE HEADS

Kirsten Dunst lets her long and naturally wavy hair flow, just like Kate Hudson's 3-year-old son, Ryder. "He won't let me cut it," Kate says.

There's no denying these brushed-forward locks look adorable on 15-month-old Danielynn Birkhead, but they are less cute on business mogul Donald Trump.

TOUSLED TRIPLETS

Gwyneth Paltrow's son, Moses, 20 months, inherited her great genes and golden locks. Now it seems her Royal Tenenbaums co-star Owen Wilson adopted his style.

Sharon Stone followed her basic instincts when she got her hair cropped like 20-month-old Shiloh Jolie-Pitt's wispy, windblown 'do. "I love it," Sharon says of her own cut.

There's no doubt that Gwen Stefani's son, Kingston, 19 months, rocks the wet 'n' wild look just as well as We Are Marshall star Matthew McConaughey does.

Lindsay Lohan has been spotted on both coasts indulging in one of her favorite pastimes: shopping. (In NYC, she was at stores on Christmas Eve!) LUCKY STRIKE LANES

With bowling, billiards, fun food and drinks, it's no surprise that George Clooney would throw the premiere party for Ocean's Thirteen at Lucky Strike Lanes, the hottest bowling alley in Chicago. With locations in cities across America, Lucky Strike combines a retro feel with modern technology and a cool vibe. Nick Lachey, Pink and Jermaine Dupri have also partied there. The big draw: specialty drinks.

The Lucky Strike (Makes 1)

- 1 oz. Absolut Mandarin vodka
- ½ oz. DeKuyper Peachtree Schnapps
- ½ oz. DeKuyper Blue Curacao
- 1½ oz. fresh lemon juice
- ½ Tbs. sugar
- ½ oz. grenadine

Put ice in a martini shaker. Add all of the items except the grenadine and shake. Pour grenadine down side of martini glass; strain into glass. Enjoy!

N9NE STEAK HOUSE

It's rated as one of the best steak houses in beef-crazy Chicago, but celebs like Mark Wahlberg, Lisa Ling, Kelly Clarkson and Vivica A. Fox love the glam style of N9NE as well as the delicious American cuisine with an international flair. Fave celeb meal: black cod miso.

BOKA RESTAURANT

"My style of cooking is simple and clean," says Boka's executive chef, Guiseppe Tentori, whose progressive cooking is thrilling celebs like Virginia Madsen. Best splurge: the decadent biscotti.

Boka chocolate biscotti (Makes 40)

5 oz. bread flour
4 oz. cake flour
½ Tbs. baking powder
½ tsp. baking soda
1 oz. cocoa powder
½ tsp. salt
1 Tbs. crushed anise seed
2 eggs
½ Tbs. vanilla extract
5 oz. sugar
Zest of 1 orange
3½ oz. chopped dark chocolate

In a recipe adapted from Boka's, combine first seven ingredients. In mixer, whip next four and slowly blend into dry mixture until dough forms. Mix chocolate in. Form dough in two logs, brush with egg whites and sugar. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes; cool, then slice each log into 20 thin slices. Put on baking sheet in a 300-degree oven and bake for 25 minutes. Serve with sorbet and fruit.

10 Eva practices what she preaches

Eva Longoria is always glam and gorgeous on the red carpet, so her reported $1.9 million deal with L'Oréal makes perfect sense. But she also advertises something as down-to-earth as ice cream! Eva, who's been vocal about refusing to try any extreme diets, is a good fit for Magnum's ice cream campaign. And finally, who better to represent Bebe Sport's hot new workout gear than the fitness buff herself? "I used to be an aerobics instructor," says Eva, 32, "so I love how stylish and comfortable the collection is."

▼ "It's incredibly healthy for our industry to put out images of real women," says Eva.

Eva already reportedly makes $10 million per season on Desperate Housewives.

► "You don't want to do ads that aren't classy," says George, who was reportedly paid $1 million to do a voice-over for Budweiser.

These stars love MAKING

They bring in oodles of extra cash doing advertisements

9 George thinks he deserves it

George Clooney is one of the biggest stars on the planet, earning up to $20 million per film — but he's not ashamed to lend his pretty face to brands like Aquafina, British Airways and Nescafé. "I'm not going to apologize for trying to make a living every once in a while," he has said. George may love the extra cash, but he got something better out of a Martini ad he shot in 2000 — a girlfriend. After clinking glasses with Lisa Snowdon in the commercial, the two dated for nearly five years!

The photos "capture Lindsay's sensual beauty," says a rep for Jill Stuart.

8 Lindsay's a walking billboard

Like Jessica Simpson and Kelly Clarkson, Lindsay Lohan filmed an infomercial for Proactiv's acne solution in 2006, raking in an estimated $2 million. The 21-year-old has also shot campaigns for Dooney & Bourke handbags and fashion lines Miu Miu and Jill Stuart. Though her recent rehab stints reportedly threatened her standing with Jill Stuart, a company exec says, "I can't say enough fantastic things about Lindsay. She is sexy and smart, exactly what the Jill Stuart woman embodies."

► According to Forbes, Lindsay made $3.5 million within the last year from movies and endorsements.

MONEY!

"Any girl can do anything she wants to do with her career and life," says Carmen.

7 Carmen covers a lot of ground

Carmen Electra's numerous endorsement deals run the gamut. In the last few years, the 35-year-old has starred in ads for Taco Bell, Ritz Cameras, PurEffect anti-acne products and Luvo's electronic dating service. Carmen recently landed another deal, a reported $400,000 for an upcoming Super Bowl spot for Hershey's chocolate. But the sexy star has to be careful. Carmen's deal with Max Factor was reportedly reconsidered after she appeared on a racy Howard Stern Show segment. "I didn't do anything vulgar," she insists.

► Carmen has hawked everything from Max Factor (top) to the NV Rapid Weight-Loss Beauty Pill (bottom).

6 Angelina's ads are classy

When former wild child Angelina Jolie became the spokesperson for St. John's upscale fashion line in September 2005, some customers were reportedly upset, calling the star "tacky." But the 32-year-old, who makes up to $20 million per movie, takes her role as the fashion house's rep seriously. "I am a working mother who has set goals to accomplish a lot in this world," she says. "I want my wardrobe to be beautiful, sexy and comfortable."

Angie makes about $12 million to be the face of St. John's clothing.

5 Tom refuses to do cheesy ads

He signed a multimillion-dollar contract with Stetson cologne and has a three-year deal with Smartwater — for which he'll be making between $3 million and $5 million — but hunky NFL quarterback Tom Brady says he has his limits when it comes to endorsements. "You realize you're turning down a lot of dough, but some things are just not me," says the 30-year-old, who has a $60 million contract with the New England Patriots (and model Gisele Bündchen on his arm). "I'm just not going to go out and do a soup ad."

Tom reportedly turned down $1 million to model Calvin Klein's undies.

Tom refused to wear the iconic Stetson hat at first, but changed his mind, insiders say.

Tom joins Jennifer Aniston as the newest celeb backer for Smartwater.

4 Catherine started the trend

Catherine Zeta-Jones raised eyebrows in 2002 when she signed on to be T-Mobile's spokesperson for a reported $20 million. "Everyone asked, 'Why is she doing this?'" she says. "I'm also a businesswoman." Though her contract expires this year, the 38-year-old beauty is still the rep for Alfa Romeo, Elizabeth Arden and Lux shampoo in Japan, and just landed a lucrative deal with upscale jewelry line Di Modolo.

► Catherine replaced Jamie Lee Curtis as T-Mobile's spokesperson in 2002. "It was a deal that you could not — and should not — refuse," she says.

"Now everyone is doing commercials. Have you noticed?" Catherine asks.

As a teen, Fergie starred on Kids Incorporated, but "I spent all my childhood actor money," she has said.

Stylists for Candie's reportedly dress Fergie fans in the brand at her concerts.

Fergie's Kipling bags range in price from $38 to $198.

3 Fergie loves to shop

Despite a childhood brush with fame, Fergie was once so broke, she had to move back in with her mom. "I had collection agents after me because I built up credit card debt," she has said. Today, she's rolling in cash. Her CD, The Dutchess, sold 2.4 million copies in 2007, making it the fourth most popular album last year, and she has a $4 million deal with Candie's shoe and clothing lines. Fergie, 32, is also the new face of MAC's Viva Glam makeup range and designed a line of handbags for Kipling. Finally, she can afford to shop again! "I've gotten in trouble for buying really expensive bags," she admits.

2 David's got an impressive body... of work

David Beckham has put his undeniable talent, good looks and British charm to work endorsing Pepsi, Adidas, Gillette, Motorola and more, bringing in an estimated $40 million on top of the megabucks — a reported $250 million — he makes playing for the LA Galaxy. The 32-year-old's amazing body has been displayed in most of his campaigns, most notably in his recent ads for Emporio Armani's new underwear line — but David swears the risqué shots show as much as we're ever going to see! "Never say never," he says, "but I don't think I'll ever go naked!"

▼ David's done ads for Razer, Emporio Armani and his perfume, but says, "I didn't want to go [to America] and people say, 'He's only there to get the money.'"

David's wife, Victoria, is "the sensible one who watches where the money goes," he says.

Beyoncé is modest about her wealth: "I'm not a flashy girl and I don't flaunt it," she says.

1 Beyoncé's a pro at self-promotion

She's starred in ad campaigns for Pepsi, L'Oréal, Tommy Hilfiger and many more, so it's little wonder that endorsement queen Beyoncé comes extra-prepared to all of her photo shoots. The 26-year-old says she carries three pairs of sunglasses and two pairs of Christian Louboutin heels — one in nude, the other gold — with her just in case. It seems Beyoncé, who made $16 million in 2006, is more concerned about running out of shoes than running out of steam! "I'm not worried about having a breakdown," she says. "Work is my drug."

Beyoncé is a spokesperson for American Express.

“I Lost 22 lbs. with Just 1 Microtablet a Day!”

Hi, I'm Monica Belcher from Lawrenceville, Georgia. I used to hate taking regular diet pills, especially those big “horse pills” you'd have to take multiple times throughout the day. So I switched to nanoSLIM™. I took one tiny nanoSLIM in the morning and then I wouldn't have to worry about taking it for the rest of the day. nanoSLIM isn't like other products. You don't have to bring lots of pills with you wherever you go, take it all day long, or worry that everyone will see you're taking diet pills. The results I got with nanoSLIM speak for themselves! I lost 22 pounds in just 11 weeks. nanoSLIM™ worked wonders for me!

DID YOU KNOW?

nanoSLIM is a powerful designer formula engineered for faster weight loss. In fact, in an 8-week study, subjects following a calorie-controlled diet lost an incredible 10.65 lbs. using just the key ingredient in nanoSLIM! Compare that to subjects following the same diet and using a placebo who lost only 5.87 lbs!

getting the look right

The come-hither look of a one-shoulder dress lets celebs flash a little skin while still looking fashionable. And, as Alle Fister of shopbop.com points out, this goddess style makes any woman look taller by drawing the eyes to the shoulder. WITH DOUG WILSON

Celebrity

Three of the contestants on NBC's new reality show share their special rooms

DOUG'S DECORATING TIP

Celebrity designer Doug Wilson of Moving Up weighs in:

"Styling with a lot of light-and-dark contrast gives a home a glam feel — especially if you add dashes of red with pillows, throws, vases and lamps."

The Celebrity Apprentice with Donald Trump is scheduled to premiere on NBC in early January. "Donald Trump is my mentor," says Omarosa, shown here with her cat, Mia. "He picked me to come back, didn't he?"

Apprentice stars at home

OMAROSA IN NYC

"I love the hustle and bustle of New York. It's so different from where I grew up in Ohio," says Omarosa, who has homes in Washington, D.C., and LA, but finds the time she spends in her NYC penthouse special. "I love coming to my little pied-à-terre in the sky," she says of the spacious apartment in the Hotel

Mela, located in midtown Manhattan, where she stays when she's in town. "I love the earth-tone colors, the windows and the amazing view. And, of course, the service is always top-notch here."

Room service, fresh flowers and lots of special amenities keep Omarosa's famous claws in check. "They've never gotten anything wrong and, believe me, they don't want to," laughs Omarosa, who earned attention as one of the toughest competitors on the reality TV circuit when she appeared on the 2004 season of NBC's The Apprentice with Donald Trump. Now, she's back for another round!

Tiffany with her husband, Joe Don of the band Rascal Flatts, is excited to be pregnant.

TIFFANY FALLON IN NASHVILLE

This beauty-pageant winner is thrilled to be part of The Celebrity Apprentice. "It's so much fun," she says. But her heart belongs at home in Tennessee. "I love our bedroom," she tells In Touch. "It's a little bit darker than the other rooms, but it's so warm and cozy."

STARS ON THE MOVE

MATTHEW FOX

The Lost star has put his four-bedroom Manhattan Beach, Calif., home on the market for $2.3 million. He purchased the house for nearly $800,000 in 1999.

OLIVIA NEWTON-JOHN

Olivia, who bought her Malibu home for $5.9 million in 2004, has put it up for sale. She sold another Malibu house for $6.1 million in 2005.

JASON BIGGS

The actor, who has been living in the Beechwood Canyon section of LA, has decided to sell his three-bedroom home. He's asking for $1.5 million.

GENE SIMMONS IN BEVERLY HILLS

"I'm lucky enough to be the king of my domain," says the KISS bassist, author and reality TV star. After taping The Celebrity Apprentice in NYC, Gene enjoys being home in the 16,500-square-foot LA mansion he shares with his longtime love, Shannon Tweed, and their two children.

Doug Wilson shows you... How to get Omarosa's look

"Pieces with soft curves in warm tones spice up a space."

Doug Wilson

Omarosa says the room's serene feel is a great balance to the hectic pace of the city outside.

In Touch Style

Richest way to wear red

The deep wine hue of Gabrielle Union's dress flatters her complexion, says TV style expert Katie Rice Jones, and the ruching enhances her curves. "I call her the 'good butt' designer," jokes Alberta Ferretti.

Most ravishing

The dramatic ruffles on Hilary Swank's Monique Lhuillier gown add a bold twist to a classic strapless evening dress. Wearing a gold belt enhances her waistline in this frilly design, explains Rice Jones.

Best dressed

Best dose of vitamin C

The refreshing orange of this J. Mendel dress was the deciding factor for Diane Kruger when picking this gown for the National Treasure: Book of Secrets premiere. "I liked the color. It felt very festive," she tells In Touch.

Awards

Who are this week's fashion winners and sinners?

Worst dressed

Best Tin Man impersonation

Has she been shopping on the Yellow Brick Road? Nicole Kidman should check the weather forecast before going out dressed as the Tin Man, say the Fugs. On a rainy day, it's best not to wear a suit that could rust!

Clowniest costume

It looks as if actress lone Skye is the new spokesmodel for the Ringling Bros. circus couture collection. "It's just such a shame that she left her rainbow wig, stilts and balloon animals in the limo," say the Fug Girls.

Most Sesame Street-ready

We all want to stay warm in winter, but in this cartoon-colored fur and black gown, Sharon Stone looks like a cross between Cruella De Vil and the Cookie Monster. "Jim Henson must be turning in his grave!" say the Fug Girls.

▲ RENEE IS STILL HOT

Renée Zellweger left her skimpy designer gowns back in her hotel room and picked a cozy moss-green sweater dress instead to walk the Bee Movie red carpet while in chilly Rome on December 4.

► DID KEIRA ENLIST?

Keira Knightley shows that you can bundle up without suffocating your sense of style. The inspiration might be the military, but the chic star is anything but olive drab.

▲ KELLY GIVES IT A GO

Kelly Osbourne is known for giving the green light to wild styles, but with porcelain skin, she should be more cautious about coloring: This traffic-light shade clashes with her fair complexion.

Rachel Bilson opts for a chic take on the hue in this formfitting, sage Randolph Duke gown that elongates her petite 5'1" frame.
